

SAVOR DELIGHT. CHERISH IT ALL.

Something
powerful
happens
when
students
get published

their eyes

glimpse the possibilities beyond the classroom

their souls

savor the delight
of seeing their work in print

their esteem

strengthens in knowing the work they've done really matters.

their lives

change in believing
they, too, can do something grand

something valuable
something remarkable

with a caption,
in a photograph,
on a gradient,
within a grid

their pride

is renewed as they flip through the pages of the legacy they've left

they don't remember

the blood, the sweat, the tears they shed

the anguish, the frustration, the sleep they missed—

rather

they remember

the dedication,
the endurance,
the skill they gave, and

they
cherish
it
all
